EIGHT PAGES—THREE CENTS

Convicts Wounded In Escape Attempt

SEIZE WOMAN AS HOSTAGE IN MICHIGAN CITY

Welfare Worker Is Wounded In Melee At State Prison

Michigan, City, Ind., June 27.—(AP)—Three desperate felons armed with butcher knives seized a woman welfare worker in Indiana state prison today and threatened to kill her unless they were given guns and freedom, but sharp-shooting guards and state police shot them down as they held a parley with the prison warden.

The three prisoners were wounded severely. A fourth prisoner, forced into their scheme, the woman hostage and the warden's secretary suffered slight wounds, and a prison guard who sought to interfere with the convicts' plans was slashed in the neck with a knife.

Mrs. Ruth Joiner, 29, of Crawfordsville, Ind., member of a party of eight welfare workers being escorted through the prison, was the woman seized.

As the party passed through the prison hospital, Mrs. Joiner was grabbed by Richard Sweet, 26; Alphonse Skusewicz, 30, and Earl Niverson, 30. The trio hustled her into the office of Dr. Patrick Weeks, prison physician.

Attempt at Rescue
Leroy Hunt, 34, trustee, working as a hospital attendant, and Joseph Piotrowski, 27, guard, rushed to the scene. Mrs. Joiner, the convicts stabbed Piotrowski in the neck and herded Hunt into the doctor's office with Mrs. Joiner.

Over Week's telephone, the convicts called Warden Alfred Dowd.
"Give us guns and a getaway car within ten minutes, or we'll kill the woman," the warden quoted them as saying.

Dowd called for state police assistance, summoned extra guards to duty and went to the hospital.
Through the door of the doctor's office, against which the convicts had erected a barricade, the warden shouted to the men and told them he would take up their demands with the governor's office.

Mrs. Joiner was shot in the shoulder, the mother of a three-year-old daughter, pleaded with them to remember their mothers and asked them to release their hostage unharmed.
Sweet shouted back:
"Nothing doing to that. I'm going out of here first some time, and I might as well go now."

Warden's Strategy
The warden retired, convinced Mrs. Joiner would come to no immediate harm, and told the convicts he would return soon with an answer.
He left, planned a surprise attack and then returned.

Guards outside were instructed to hold quietly ladders to two outside windows in Week's office. Two squads inside crept to windows along side the door leading into the office. These windows are equipped with bullet-proof glass.

Dowd went back to the door and resumed his parley. At a prearranged signal, the squads at the outside and inside windows smashed the glass, and a volley of shots rang out. The three convicts were dropped before they could harm their captive.

Soviet Planes Are Destroyed Fighting Japs

Tokyo, June 27.—(AP)—A sweeping victory over Soviet Russian air forces in outer Mongolia was reported tonight in Japanese dispatches which said 120 enemy airplanes were destroyed in two spectacular battles near the Manchoukuo frontier.

Advices from Hainking, capital of Japanese dominated-Manchoukuo, told for the first time of a Japanese aerial invasion either of Soviet Siberia or of Russian-dominated Mongolian territory in the long series of conflicts between Russia and Japan in the far east.

They did not disclose the strength of the Japanese forces or their losses. Since May 20 Japanese have reported the destruction of 251 Soviet-Mongolian warplanes in fighting along the troubled frontier.

In Moscow, Soviet Russians appeared not greatly excited by the reported air battles. According to their reports the Japanese-Manchoukuo planes have suffered heavy losses and the Soviet-Mongolian squadrons only small losses in the intermittent fighting.

BANKS TO LOSE BONDS 'FORGED' ON UNIVERSITY

Former President Of Louisiana U. Still Missing

Baton Rouge, Ala., June 27.—(AP)—While new Governor Earl Long pledged a "square deal" news-grocery Louisiana was told tonight the fugitive former president of its cherished state university had bilked three big banks of $500,000.

Since 51-year-old Dr. James Monroe Smith dropped from sight Sunday night just after resigning, details of his supposed wrongdoings had been as mysterious as his whereabouts but late today Attorney General David M. Ellison announced Smith had obtained a cool half million through invalid university notes.

Authority Lacking
Ellison asserted any loss must be borne by the banks and not by the university. He explained the money had been obtained on notes which had been accepted by the banks without required authority of the state bond and tax board and therefore the loans were between the banks and Smith.

In a letter to Dr. Paul Hebert, L. S. U. Law School dean named acting president today, Ellison disclosed how the tall, scholarly-looking Smith had talked his way to three immense cash advances in about six weeks.

On May 2, the attorney general said, he obtained $300,000 from the National Bank of Commerce at New Orleans. June 9, another $100,000 was lent from the City National Bank of Baton Rouge and six days later another $100,000 was obtained via the note route from the Hibernia National Bank of New Orleans.

Ellison did not say in his letter what use Smith made of this money but a brokerage firm yesterday reported the bald prexy had been a heavy loser in market plungings and had closed out an account about June 20 with two checks, each for $100,000.

Arrest Owners of Taverns in Quincy
Quincy, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—Irma Bracy and Bert Sherman, Quincy tavern owners, were arrested on charges of selling liquor to minors today following the death last night of Dorothy Beckett, 17.

Miss Beckett suffered a broken neck Friday night when the automobile in which she was a passenger plunged down a 10-foot embankment and struck a chicken house near here. Five other persons, ranging in age from 15 to 22, escaped serious injury.

HIGHWAY BILLS FOR CHICAGO IN PASSAGE STAGE

Shorn Of State Aid, Also Proposal For Downstate Roads

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—Battle-scarred bills for Chicago super-highways moved a big step forward in the Illinois House tonight.

Stripped of state aid and Lieut. Gov. John Steller's proposals for a $30,000,000 downstate rural road program, the highway bills were sent to the House floor with a "do pass" recommendation by the roads and bridges committee which had kept them bottled up for three weeks.

Earlier the House upheld the Democratic administration's $4,000,000 monthly relief spending program. State police cleared the galleries while the House voted down amendments that would have hiked the rate of state aid to as much as $30,000,000 and another that would have cut it to $3,000,000.

STILL ALOFT! Endurance Fliers Are a "Little Grouchy"

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—Endurance fliers Wilbur Parrish and Hunter Moody still showed no sign of weakening tonight in their resolution to better the existing light plane sustained flight record of 218 hours.

"We get a little grouchy sometimes, and we're sure glad when we can get a chance to sleep," Parrish told the ground crew by radio. "But, we're a lot more alert to things than we thought we'd be at this time. We'll get way beyond that record."

POLICEMAN AND FIREMAN BILLS GO TO HORNER

Sales, Public Utility Taxes Extended In House Voting

Springfield, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—Bills to extend the three per cent sales and public utility taxes another two years and to make minimum wage laws for downstate firemen and policemen inoperative unless a tax increase is approved by city referendum were sent to the governor today by the legislature.

The House approved the sales tax extension measure after defeating an attempt of Rep. Arnold L. Lund (R-Riverside) to recall the bill from passage stage to consider an amendment to increase from one third to one half the amount of the tax receipts to be used for relief purposes.

Lund declared that the diversion should be increased "so that the people for whom the tax was passed can get this money."

Minority Leader Benjamin Adamowski of Chicago asserted the amendment attempt of Lund was "a grandstand gesture in the closing days of the session."

After refusing to suspend the rules and recall the bill by a vote of 77 to 42, the House then approved without further debate both extension bills by a vote of 105 to 22.

At the Senate, the bills were sent to the governor by the Senate.

Roosevelt Insists Congress Continue Devaluation Power

SENATE STIRRED UP BY REMARKS AT CONFERENCE

Some Senators Feel Attitude Hampers Compromise

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—A few barbed remarks from Hyde Park stirred up anger in the senate wing of the capitol today as worried administration leaders struggle to push major legislation through congress by midnight Friday, the close of the fiscal year.

From his mansion on the Hudson, President Roosevelt lashed out at those who participated in yesterday's coup which stirred the administration monetary bill of the president's power to devalue the dollar and set a fixed and increased price for government purchases of newly mined domestic silver.

The hard money Republicans from the east and the "silver senators" and currency expansionists of the west who engineered the pooling of votes which brought these things about promptly made a series of wrathful retorts. Privately, their language was even more sulphurous.

Effect of Development
Some old-timers at the capitol, summing the situation up, felt that the development had served chiefly to harden attitudes to a point at which any compromise arrangement could be reached only with extreme difficulty. And the monetary bill still had a tortuous path to follow before it could reach the White House.

This measure, involving the life of the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund, was but one of several which administration men said must be passed by midnight Friday, the close of the fiscal year, in confusion in several downtown departments and possibly much embarrassment to the government in the last 24 hours of adjournment Friday week.

There were, in addition, the $1,735,000,000 relief appropriation bill, on which the senate, feeling the prod of the administration leadership, was hard at work, and several appropriations bills, including that for the agriculture department and farm benefit payments.

Officials declined to make any formal explanation of the reduction, but it was learned that the treasury feared an influx of shipments within the next few days unless prices in London and the United States were kept in line.

The price on the London market dropped to nearly 39 cents an ounce today. The treasury has been paying 43 cents since March, 1938. The silver was bought under a 1934 law designed to boost the world price to $1.29 an ounce through diminishing the supply glutting the silver markets.

The idea was to raise the price of silver by somewhat the same means as buying up several million bushels of wheat and locking them away in elevators would influence the grain exchange.

Treasury foreign silver prices are good for only 24 hours and informed persons said new reductions were possible in the next few days.

The change, however, did not affect the price of silver mined in this country, for which the treasury now pays $4.64 cents an ounce. The Senate voted yesterday to require the treasury to pay $7.57 cents an ounce. The House has not concurred in this vote or in the vote to discontinue foreign purchases and the legislation now goes to a conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Answering To F. D. R.
Mr. Roosevelt skipped briefly over another senate amendment—to boost to 77.57 cents the present treasury price of 64.64 cents an ounce for newly-mined domestic silver. With a chuckle, he remarked it was amusing that certain senators had voted for a fixed price subsidy for silver and said he took it the same gentlemen would vote for a fixed price, government-guaranteed, for cotton, wheat, pigs and cattle.

But he was entirely serious, and his tones almost belligerent at times, as he sat in the library of his home and discussed the possibility of his losing his devaluation power.

It was perfectly clear, he said, that a great many people, including the owners of many big newspapers, would like to see control over foreign exchange returned to Wall Street. They have always taken that point of view, he said, and resented having control of money lodged in the treasury.

While it remained in Wall Street, he added, Americans, such as importers and exporters, lost large sums, probably hundreds of millions.

Neutral Law Debate Begins In The House

SENATE ACTION GIVES BANKERS REINS, CLAIMS

Washington, June 27.—(AP)—The long-awaited debate on the administration's bill to devise the neutrality law began today in the house, where congressmen poured out thousands of words describing the measure variously as "a great step toward peace" and "a war-making bill."

For the most part, the discussion of the measure, which would do away completely with the present provision for an embargo on arms shipments to belligerents, was mild and attracted only a moderate crowd of listeners.

Representative Fish of New York, ranking Republican on the foreign affairs committee, was its chief opponent. He called it "strictly an interventionist measure" and said its sole purpose was to force this country into an alliance with Great Britain.

On the other hand, Rep. Eaton of New Jersey, another Republican on the foreign affairs committee, asserted that he was "for the mangled remains of the bill."

That remark was the key, perhaps, to the mild tenor of debate. It referred to last minute changes which the house Democratic leadership proposed to stave off rapidly developing opposition.

Blow At Defense
The loss of his power to reduce the gold content of the dollar again would strike a definite blow at national defense, he said, since a nation was weakened if its foreign trade was weakened.

Administration officials have contended that the fact that the United States could meet devaluation with devaluation had tended to discourage other nations from entertaining any idea of tampering with their currencies to obtain a competitive advantage in foreign trade.

More than the defense angle, the president stressed the prospects that control money might be taken from the treasury and handed over to Wall Street, speculators and international bankers.

As long as we have the right to devalue another 18 percent, he continued, the chances are 10 to 1 we won't have to use it.

Picture Of Past
Taking away that right, he said, meant a possible return to conditions that existed in 1930 and 1931—giving international speculators an opportunity to sell the pound short this month, the franc next month and the beiga the month following.

It would restore to the private bankers in New York and London, Mr. Roosevelt declared, the only check on these speculative operations, and, therefore returned to Wall Street the same control it had over foreign exchange up to 1931.

The chief executive said the senate vote was by no means final. He said, however, he had not been in touch with Washington about the monetary bill—which also would continue the treasury's $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund—and that no moves were contemplated other than an attempt to work out some sort of legislation in a senate-house conference committee.

The house already has passed the monetary bill, declined to strip the president of his devaluation power and its representatives on the conference committee will be in a position to fight the senate amendment.

SENATE ACTION GIVES BANKERS REINS, CLAIMS

Market Speculators Will Control, Is FDR's Warning

Hyde Park, N. Y., June 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt told congress today it would undermine national defense and return control over money to Wall Street. International bankers, he said, if it failed to continue full power to devalue the dollar.

He pictured for reporters a possible return to the times when the sale international currencies were jumping up and down like a jack-in-the-box the internal economics of all nations were disrupted and only speculators and international bankers were the beneficiaries.

The devaluation power will expire at midnight Friday unless congress drives a monetary bill to speedy final enactment. A senate vote yesterday to strip from the measure a section extending the devaluation authority raised doubts over the possibility of that action.

Mr. Roosevelt anticipated a request for comment on that vote at his press conference. He was ready.

Summer Isn't So Bad

Hot days in Central Illinois haven't the paralyzing effect on activities of people that they used to. They dress differently, rely on machinery to do many former back-breaking tasks on the farms, and look upon the hot months as a normal part of the year, rather than as a scourge.

"It's good for the corn," they used to say when the temperature soared up in the nineties, and everyone got busy fighting the air with palm leaf fans. That was about all the summer months were regarded as good for—people sacrificed their own activities while the corn was given right-of-way.

But residents in this section of Illinois no longer suffer martyrdom from heat and humidity, resigned to their fate while the corn grows taller and other crops ripen. Less time is spent in hard work during the summer months, and people take more time for relaxation and recreation in ways which keep up their physical morale.

New methods on the farms of Morgan county and other Central Illinois counties have vastly changed the social aspect of the harvest season. Formerly we had big threshing rings, threshing dinners, women quite active going from home to home and enjoying as best they could the visitation and social contacts while laboring over hot stoves in the kitchen.

Now the threshing rings are giving way to the combine harvesters, with less exchange of work and a shorter season. Many farmers handle their harvest with little if any exchange of work.

To make up for that trend, however, there are more community meetings than ever before, more clubs, programs, reunions and picnics. Many towns have country clubs and golf courses which are in steady use during the hot months. All of the patrons are not city people, either. The number of farmers who try their hands at golf is surprising.

Baseball and softball have come to the front in rural communities where the boys work hard at times, but have more time for recreation. We noticed a softball game on a country diamond the other day, and it wasn't on Sunday afternoon, either. The youngsters probably had caught up in their work and were given a few hours by their parents to spend as they pleased. The fact that they went in for a strenuous game of softball on a warm afternoon would indicate that they are not overworked or too tired to play.

There's less salt pork in the summertime farm diet as the cold storage locker plants have become more common for beef and pork storage.

Hard roads and the automobile have also figured prominently in changing the hot weather habits of farm families. They are no longer "tied down" to one place, but can move about quickly to new scenes and contacts with friends.

We don't deny it gets hot in these parts along about July and August. But we do believe that people have in recent years thrown off the yoke of summertime, and really enjoy life more fully despite the blistering smile of Old Sol.

The Admiral Stands Pat

Young men who go through the United States Naval academy often are told by their instructors that a naval officer may some day, or many times, be called upon to function as an international diplomat. Naval officers of experience know how true that is.

At present the United States navy has a high officer in one of the toughest spots in the world, and up to date Admiral Yarnell has performed according to the best American traditions. Admiral Yarnell is in command of the not very large navy force located at a point off the Chinese coast, where there is plenty of evidence of war.

The Japanese, with characteristic bluster, recently told Yarnell and his miniature navy to "get out." The admiral made no move to get out, but politely informed the Japs that he was there and would stay there, or go anywhere to protect American lives and interests.

This quiet, effective answer appears to have stumped the Japs, and up to now they haven't done anything about throwing the Americans out. Admiral Yarnell has been in a lot of other tough spots in the Orient, including the sinking of one of his ships, the Panay, by Japanese bombs. Then and since then he has acted with firm, positive demeanor which shows him to be a diplomat as well as a brave naval commander.

Ask Wallace To Quit

The resignation of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace was demanded in a resolution adopted by the board of directors of the Corn Belt Liberty League, which maintains headquarters at Macomb, Ill. The league was organized in Illinois a year ago to combat what some charged was political control of crop acreage through the AAA.

During a discussion of the AAA before adoption of the resolution, several members of the board declared their belief that Wallace and his department are intent upon maintaining the status quo of agriculture. These speakers said there could be no excuse for retaining the AAA if farm prices were restored and charged that Wallace and his staff are more interested in keeping their jobs than helping the farmers.

Adoption of the resolution was probably inspired by action of the Wisconsin house of representatives last week. The Wisconsin house demanded the resignation of Wallace, charging that through the AAA he had aided corn whores and some other farmers, but hadn't done anything toward easing the plight of the dairy farmers.

There is no indication that Secretary Wallace will hasten to resign because of these two "invitations." Probably none of the signers expected that he would look up his desk and quit business in Washington. However, resolutions of this kind reflect the dissatisfaction of many farmers who believe that agriculture in general is not showing the signs of improvement it should.

Grace M. E. Church Launches Campaign At Breakfast Meet

Budget for Year Set Between $9,000 and $10,000; H. L. Sperry is Chairman

Tuesday morning, 36 members of the Grace M. E. church sat down to breakfast, where plans were discussed and the every-member financial campaign launched. Final reports will be due two weeks from Tuesday. The first report meeting will be Monday evening, July 3.

The fiscal year of Grace church has been changed from September to June, which brings the every-member financial campaign three months earlier.

The budget of Grace church for current expenses and world benevolences is between $9,000 and $10,000. However, each year the church raises for all purposes, through its various organizations, between $11,000 and $12,000. A group of captains, including A. G. Cody, Ray Steinheimer, M. M. Want, Willard Cody, H. D. Atkins, Lawrence Oakley, L. K. Gilchrist, J. I. Graham and Glen Sims, are sharing the responsibility of the campaign with Harry L. Sperry, campaign chairman. The entire membership will be visited during the next two weeks, and their pledges received for the work of the church for the coming year from June 1, 1939, to May 31, 1940.

Several items were stressed at the meeting. First, that the Christian religion is at the very foundation of our democratic society; that all who share in the support of the Kingdom of God are helping most effectively to maintain what our forefathers so earnestly and sacrificially secured. Second, that the Christian way of life demands the whole-hearted support of all who are followers of Christ; hence to carry on effective work in the present day demands the loyal support of every member of the church. Third, that such support should be given regularly, either weekly or monthly—in a few instances quarterly—but the value of weekly giving was stressed by every one who spoke.

Mr. Sperry was pleased with the fine spirit and enthusiasm of the group. Those who are on the finance committee besides Mr. Sperry are A. G. Cody, Ray Steinheimer, M. M. Want and H. D. Atkins.

Mrs. F. K. Bote reported plans for the district conference, which will meet in Jacksonville with the Franklin school, the host school. Mrs. E. D. Canatsey spoke on the materials that will be ready for the visual education chairman in September.

A report of the plans for the "Book Exchange" this fall for the high school was made by Mrs. Ralph Cowgour. The new program for student aid and exceptional child work was explained and discussed.

Mrs. Jenkins, social hygiene chairman is in Chicago for the summer and will have several conferences with Dr. Bertha Shafer, state chairman of social hygiene.

Isn't This Why You Are Constipated?

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't eat enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast may give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B₁. All-Bran is not a drug, not a medicine. Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

Blackett Outlines Program for State Republican Drive

Wants Open Primary, With Each Candidate Running on His Own Merits

Chicago — Hill Blackett, recently elected Republican National Committeeman for Illinois, presented a somewhat formal statement of his policies Monday to the 1940 club at a luncheon in the Hotel Sherman.

He declared against back room state making and for a free primary open to all candidates who want to run. He proposed that the campaign funds collected in Illinois be used to take care of the needs of the party within the state before any money is sent elsewhere. He urged that a big Republican primary vote be brought out next April. He was optimistic about the outcome of the following November.

Predicts New Deal Defeat

This was Blackett's maiden speech since he was chosen by the Republican State Committee to succeed the late George F. Harding. He has begun working in his new role and part of his speech was devoted to telling of a visit last week to Washington where he talked with many party leaders.

"The country is ready to leave the New Deal," he said. "The country is ready to turn to new leadership, provided we give the right kind of leadership. But any one who has felt the pulse of the American people knows there is one thing they do not want in our state or in the nation—they do not want candidates selected in that well known 'smoke filled' back room and thrust down the throats of our voters.

Urges Open Door Policy

"It looks as though we are going to have an open field of candidates here in Illinois and we must do our best to keep the field open. Every Republican who feels that he has the qualifications and the record which entitle him to run for public office must be made to feel that the door is wide open.

"Too often in the past we have operated as though the Republican party here in Illinois were a country club with a waiting list. Some little group or clique would get together in a huddle and come out with a slate and foist it on our party.

"And what was the result? If you weren't a member of that particular little clique you were simply out in the rain. Your offers to help weren't appreciated and you often felt that they weren't even wanted.

Asks One-For-All Spirit

"Now if we adopt the open door policy we have a definite responsibility which goes with it. We must ask that each candidate run on his own merits and that no candidate try to advance himself by tearing down any fellow candidate. Let's remind every candidate that a victory in April will mean little or nothing in November unless we can all work heart and soul together the day the primary is over.

After Blackett had been warmly applauded, Chairman Harry S. Ditchburn introduced several other speakers. Among them were Richard J. Lyons, an announced candidate for governor, Dwight H. Green, who may run for the same nomination, and Otis F. Glenn, who is believed certain to run for United States senator.

Veteran Chicago Pitcher Takes Eighth Straight; Auker Wins One

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Chicago, June 27.—(AP)—The veteran Ted Lyons won his eighth straight victory of the season today, giving the St. Louis Browns only four hits as the Chicago White Sox won the series opener 11 to 2.

The Sox collected 15 safeties off three Brownie hurlers. The first, Bill Trotter, held Lyons close for six innings but weakened in the seventh and was chased as Chicago uncorked four straight singles. The Sox continued their bombardment against John Whitehead for a six run inning and added two more runs in the eighth off George Gill.

Catcher Mike Tresh had a triple and three singles in four trips to lead the Sox offense. The Browns got their runs in the second when Joe Gallagher doubled, Myril Hoag tripled and John Berardino singled.

Wheat Rolling Into Greene Elevators Is Making Good Grade

Slight Excess of Moisture Is Only Trouble; Many Farmers Send in Harvest

Carrollton.—The first wheat received in this city for market this year was two truck loads brought to the Carrollton Farmers Elevator Saturday. It was cut and threshed by combine on the farm of John Goedde, which lies almost entirely inside the city limits. It weighed 59 pounds to the bushel, and graded No. 2, but had 1 per cent moisture.

The market buying price here Saturday was 61 cents for dry No. 2 wheat containing not in excess of 14 per cent of moisture. The wheat was yielding about 20 bushels to the acre. Mr. Goedde was paid 59 cents a bushel being docked two cents a bushel for the excess moisture.

Monday morning two loads of wheat weighing 57 pounds to the bushel and containing 15 per cent moisture was received at the elevator from the Harold Cunningham farm; a load weighing as much as 55 pounds from the Eugene Carmody farm; two loads from the Henry Steinacher farm, weight 58; two loads from the Henry Steinacher farm, weight 58; two loads from the John Meister farm, weight 58 pounds, 15 per cent moisture; a load each from the Ashford and Hunt farm, and the Frank Kaiser farm, weight 57 pounds each.

Those farms are in various directions from this city. Most of the grain is grading good in weight, but the test for moisture in most cases showed improvement. There is some rust in places but not bad. Although prospects are for an extra good crop of wheat, still the standing grain is in such condition that little rain, especially if accompanied by any wind, put it down so badly that the loss could run well up in the thousands of dollars.

New York Giants Win From Philadelphia Phillies, 13 to 5

NATIONAL LEAGUE

St. Louis, June 27.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs lost to the Cardinals today in a hot spot in the first inning today but he fought his way out, marked up his ninth victory against two defeats and drove in two runs as the St. Louis Cardinals won 5 to 2.

Stanley Hack opened the game with a home run. Billy Herman doubled. Two walks following an infield out filled the bases. Then Warneke forced G. Russell to pop to Johnny Mize and Gibson filed to Terry Moore.

Warneke had the situation well in hand thereafter but Manager Blades yanked him in the ninth as Manager Gabby Hartnett singled to open the inning. Bob Bowman then retired the side.

One of Warneke's two doubles came in the Cards' 4-run fourth, driving in two scores after Enos Slaughter's first homer of the season had accounted for a pair.

Cincinnati, June 27.—(AP)—Snapping with a vengeance from their four-game losing streak, the league-leading Reds combined good pitching and time hitting today to shut out the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 0.

Paul Derringer, who has failed to survive his last three starts, held the Bucs to four safeties.

As the Reds came back, so did Frank McCormick. Entering the first of the two-game series with a dubious record of three hits in 28 times at bat, the young sophomore first baseman slammed out four straight, including a fourth-inning homer that started the scoring.

A ladies' day crowd of 15,007 saw the game.

Derringer appeared in finest form against Russ Bauers as he rang up his ninth victory. He struck out four and walked not a man, while his opposing moundman, yanked in the midst of a three run uprising in the fifth—walked three and fanned but two. In all the Rhinelanders gained 10 blows.

New York, June 27.—(AP)—The Giants stretched their winning streak to four straight and made it sixteen victories out of their last 16 starts with a thumping 13-5 win over the Phillies in the series opener here today.

Hal Schumacher had an easy time winning his sixth victory, though he allowed the Phils 13 hits, or one more than the Giants could get.

Boston, June 27.—(AP)—Almost duplicating the feat that the same two clubs performed 19 years ago, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Bees played through 23 innings to a 2-2 tie here today.

The third longest game in big league history, it was called because of darkness after shattering this year's endurance record of 19 innings.

The Bees and the Dodgers of 1920 went 36 innings to a 1-1 tie for the longest game in the records.

Each team used four pitchers today. The game lasted 5 hours and 15 minutes with Whitlow Wyatt, the rookie sensation of the Dodgers, staying the longest, 14 innings.

The Bees scored their runs in the second when West, Cuccinello and Majeski all singled and Miller sent up a sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers scored once in the third on Oscarart's double, Wyatt's single and Almada's infield out. They tied it in the eighth on hits by Parks, Camilli and Koy.

Play Semi-Finals Of City Singles Tennis Meet This Afternoon

With all but one of the quarter-final matches in the singles division of the city tennis tournament out of the way at the end of yesterday's play, three men are in the semi-final round and the fourth will be decided in an early match this afternoon.

Bob Hamm, who defeated Duane Arts in the most smoothly played match of the meet so far, will meet the consistent Bob Weaver in the first semi-final contest at 3:30 this afternoon. Weaver won from his doubles partner, Paul Findley, 6-2 and 6-2. Weaver, Findley and Arts have all established themselves as being top flight players. Findley is the hardest hitter of the lot. Weaver depends on consistency and trick placements, while Arts plays the smooth, low driving game that is also characteristic of Hamm.

In the upper bracket, Jim Coultas outlasted his partner, Jim Lacey, to win the decision, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3. This might be considered a mild upset, though the boys have been playing very evenly. Lacey had been seeded number three by virtue of his semi-final play against Hamm last year. Coultas banged away at Lacey with crashing serves and sharp drives, eventually coming out on the proper end of the score.

Elmer Lukeman will meet Ellsworth "Bud" Black at 3:30 today. Black having defeated Mack Pine. The winner of the Black-Lukeman tangle will take the court again at 5:30 to meet Coultas in the other semi-final match. This will give somebody a final afternoon, but both boys have agreed to it in order to make it possible for the singles finals to be played Thursday and the doubles Friday.

Hamm and Lukeman downed their opponents, Marx and Lane, yesterday to move into the doubles semi-finals where they will meet the winners of the Lacey-Coultas vs. J. Clark-Arts tangle. The latter, which takes place

Hogs Gain; Cattle
Are Slow, Steady

Chicago, June 27.—(P)—Hogs continued their recent climb to higher price ground today, reaching a top of $7.25 for the first time in more than two months. The cattle market was mostly slow and steady. Spring lambs were strong to as much as 25 cents higher in spots.

The hog market was active, opening steady to strong and closing 5 to 10 cents higher. Bulk of good and choice 180 to 250 pound hogs sold from $7 to $7.25, the latter top. Receipts of 13,000 in the open market were 1,000 above advance estimates.

Yearlings and lightweight steers found a fairly dependable outlet at fully steady prices, while heavier steers cashed slowly at about steady levels, topping at $10.50, paid for medium-weight steers. Light Yearlings topped at $10.25, fat cows were draggy and steady to weak, cutters and yearlings steady and bulls 10 to 15 higher. Native spring lambs topped at $10.25. Sheep were about steady.

New York Stock Market

New York, June 27.—(P)—Securities markets operated in a semi-fog today as Washington monetary developments proved a highly-confusing influence on speculative thinking.

Stocks rallied feebly at intervals and selected issues retained gains running to a point or so. Losers, however, were plentiful at the close. Dealings were slack throughout, with transfers for the five hours approximately 450,000 shares.

Action of the senate late yesterday in voting to permit the president's dollar devaluing authority to expire on June 30, boosting the domestic silver price and halting the foreign purchases of the metal failed to bring any special rush for stocks, brokers said, mainly because most traders were unable to determine just what these meant marketwise.

Restraining buyers to some extent, it was thought, was the realization the senatorial decree would have to go to conference and, consequently, might come a cropper in the house, which previously had approved extension of the executive devaluing power.

European markets steadied. Bonds were irregularly down. Commodities were mostly improved.

U. S. Smelting and American Smelting, with large silver properties in Mexico, kept to a relatively narrow course despite the move to suspend foreign silver takings.

WHEAT MOVES UP ON CHICAGO MART

Chicago, June 27.—(P)—Wheat took another important step toward recovery Tuesday with gains of almost two cents a bushel that lifted prices about 3 cents above last week's low levels.

Strength in foreign markets, comparatively light hedging pressure despite the marketing of new grain in the southwest, good demand credited to milling interests, and reports of serious harvest delays in some localities because of too much rain encouraged buying.

Receipts were: wheat seven cars, corn 59, oats 12.

Wheat closed 11-13 cents higher than yesterday, July 11-1, Sept. 71-72; corn unchanged to 1 higher, July 47-1, September 49-1; oats 1-1 1/2 higher.

SERIAL STORY

PAR IS LOVE

BY EDWIN RUTT

Copyright, 1939, NEA Service, Inc.

Yesterday, Gannan treats Roy like a son while condemning Barbara's going and bangs play-boys. Editors: When Gannan searches for a name, Royston is forced to take it upon himself. Gannan's bed. He can take no chances.

CHAPTER V

SHE looked at him with unconcealed admiration. "How clever! I'd have never thought of that."

"When you get as old as I am," said Roy, "you learn to take these precautions. Incidentally, I've been wanting to see you."

"Me? I'm flattered."

"Quit kidding. Your dad's been showing me his museum."

"Oh! You saw the Gobi dinosaur?"

"Yes. Wicked-looking beast, isn't he? The point is, if I don't pretty soon learn something about things like that, I'm going to be in a jam. Your dad thinks I'm an evolutionist."

"Yes. He mentioned you at breakfast."

She smiled at him out of her great eyes. "I think you've got your work cut out for you."

"Just what do you mean?"

"Well, you've got to find out something about evolution, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"And you've got to help me out in various ways."

"Now that," said Roy, "is saying something. That's exactly what I want to do most. Which brings me to this point: Did you know today was Thursday?"

"Of course."

"Well, this golf match is on Saturday. We've got to work fast."

"I don't get you," said Babs.

"I say we've got to work fast or the match will come off."

"Why, of course, it will come off. Why wouldn't it?"

"But if it does, then you've got to marry either Ronald or Wilfrid."

Babs tapped her foot impatiently. "Yes, certainly. We went into all that yesterday."

"We did. But don't you see that circumstances alter cases? I—well, I wasn't consulted about this match."

"Yes." Her eyes were wide.

"You? In other words, now that I've met you, I—I think we ought to have a new deal all around."

She looked away from him. "What about my word to Ronald and Wilfrid?"

"I've planned for that," said Roy. "As I get the arrangement, that only holds good if the match is played on Saturday morning."

"That's right. But what's to prevent it from being played?"

"That," said Roy, "is what we've got to figure out."

"We? You don't expect me to help you, do you?"

HE grinned at her, his gray eyes humorous. "Sort of thought you might. After all, you practically admitted yesterday that you haven't exactly fallen for either Ronald or Wilfrid."

"Well, neither have I..." She checked herself and stood looking at the ground.

"Good Lord," exclaimed Roy. "You don't think I was concealed enough to think that, I hope. It's only that—well, I ought to have a fair chance. I oughtn't to be expected to buck a closed corporation."

"But how do you think you can stop the match? You can't kidnap Ron and Wilfrid."

"No. That's out. I've got to consider other ways and means."

"Well," Barbara began moving away, "go to it."

Roy's heart gave a bound. "Does that mean..."

THE round face of Mr. Wilfrid Peyton wore a sober and studious look. It was a face, magenta-colored now from exertion, a face possessed of two brown cowlike eyes. Ever and anon as he stood on the Gannan lawn woffling golf shots with machine-like regularity, his white teeth bit painfully into his lower lip and a grim determination brooded about the corners of his mouth. Mr. Wilfrid Peyton was out for blood and his was a nature composed of stern stuff. Absorbed in his work, it was some minutes before he noticed an unfamiliar young gentleman who stood under a hyacinth bush with an expression of sardonic amusement on his face.

"Hey!" he said. "What are you staring at?"

The alien young gentleman shifted his feet. "Me? Oh, nothing much."

"Well then," said Wilfrid, in a mandatory tone, "be busy."

"So I see," said the young man, without moving. "You're building a tennis court, aren't you?"

"Tennis court? What are you trying to do, be funny?"

"Not at all. You're taking up all the grass so I naturally thought you were trying to get at the soil beneath. And that suggests a tennis court, doesn't it?"

"What about it? It's what you call a deduction. Sherlock Holmes used to make them."

FOR folderol of this sort Wilfrid had little time. The fellow was a wise-cracker of some kind and under ordinary circumstances he would have replied devastatingly. But serious business lay ahead and he could not be disturbed. He therefore addressed another ball and wagged his club.

"Scram," he advised briefly, and swung.

The ball, barely topped, bounced a few yards and lay beneath a dandelion, looking up at Wilfrid like an accusing white eye.

"Well played," said Roy encouragingly.

Wilfrid turned on him in a fury. "Maybe you could do better."

"I could," said Roy. "Lend me that club."

Wilfrid's wrath rose higher. "I'll bet you five dollars," he shouted, red in the face, "that you don't hit it first time."

"I'm taking that," said Roy, hefting the club.

There was a sharp neat click. The ball rose majestically and soared away in the direction of the swimming pool. Wilfrid watched it, fascinated. In all his hours of frantic practice he had not achieved a shot like this. His jaw dropped.

Wilfrid stood silent a moment, thinking. Suddenly a crafty expression stole over his face.

"Say," he said, "could you

Wheat Harvest Starts In County This Week; AAA Loan Rules Given

Wheat harvest is beginning in Morgan county this week. In fact combines started work Tuesday in wheat fields in the south part of the county, and if the weather holds good, they will be in full operation today. As yet not much wheat has been taken to elevators. One firm reports the purchase of new wheat testing 57 pounds per bushel, with 13.2% moisture, and averaging 27 bushels per acre.

Wallace T. Hembrough, chairman of the Morgan County Agricultural Conservation Association, said Tuesday that he can see no reason why there should not be a good wheat crop in this county. "Much of the wheat was filled before the rains came," he said. "If there is no more moisture, it should turn out well. It may be a little damp yet, but dry weather will solve that difficulty."

Mr. Hembrough also gave the press the information available concerning government loans on wheat. He gave out the following statement: "The Morgan County A.A.A. office has received many requests for information in regard to the 1939 wheat loans. Any producer who has filed a form signifying his intention to participate in the 1939 program and who has seeded within the 1939 Wheat Acreage Allotment for his farm is eligible for a loan.

Wheat Must Be Stored
"Collateral wheat may be stored either on the farm in an approved bin or in an approved warehouse. Wheat stored on the farm must have been stored 30 days before it is eligible for inspection.

"The applicant for a loan makes his request at the county A.A.A. office. He will pay a total fee of one cent per bushel for each bushel placed under a loan, but in no case shall such total fee be less than $3.00. The applicant will also be required to insure the wheat.

"The county office then sends an inspector out to inspect the bin and take a sample of the wheat. The sample is sent to the state office where it is tested and graded. The result of this test determines the price of the loan.

"The Morgan county rates for farm stored wheat are: No. 1, 71c; No. 2, 70c; No. 3, 68c; No. 4, 65c; No. 5, 62c. "After the papers are completed, a copy is filed at the county court house. The local banks are qualifying to handle the loans. This will make it possible for the applicant to receive his money the same day the loan papers are completed.

"Farm stored wheat loans will become due on April 30, 1940. A total allowance of 70 per bushel for farm storage of wheat will be made in connection with the 1939 wheat loan.

May Be Stored at Terminals
"Those who wish to store wheat in a public warehouse will request their local elevator to ship their grain to and approved warehouse. The elevator manager will notify the terminal warehouse that the wheat is to be stored for loan purposes.

"The St. Louis, Missouri loan rate for wheat stored in public warehouses is 80c on No. 2 red winter wheat and No. 2 hard winter wheat. Morgan county is in the St. Louis area.

"When the producer receives his warehouse receipt and related papers, he will bring them to the county office. If the county committee determines that the producer, the grain collateral and the warehouse receipt are eligible for a loan, they will collect the certification fee of 1 cent per bushel (minimum fee $1.50 per loan) and complete the note and loan agreement.

"Commercial storage loans may run for seven months from the date of the note, but not later than April 30, 1940. If the producer wishes to buy the wheat back at any time during the seven months, he may do so by paying the principle plus 4 per cent interest."

150 Men Assigned To South Diamond Project by WPA

Begin Removal of Bricks and Sewer Installation Wednesday Morning

One hundred and fifty men have been assigned by the Works Progress Administration to the South Diamond street brick removal and storm sewer installation project, City Engineer Kenneth K. Stapleton said he had been informed, and the men will report Wednesday morning.

Some of the projects which have been operating here will be closed down temporarily in order to supply the city with a sufficient number of men to prepare the street for the 36 foot wide slab, but they will be reopened as soon as the preliminary work is far enough in advance of the contractors, the Sangamon Construction company of Springfield, to be certain that the contractor will experience no delays.

It is planned to begin work at the south end of South Diamond, and to work toward West College avenue, western terminus of the improvement. Surveyors from the city department have been busy the past two days staking out the work.

The project is being constructed out of the city's share of the motor fuel tax, and a special assessment of $2 a front foot against owners of property on the street.
